Mozilla Firefox 3.5
If there are any users still using Firefox 3.5, you are urged to upgrade to Firefox 3.6 as soon as possible. Mozilla plans to introduce a forced upgrading mechanism into this outdated version which will automatically upgrade you to Firefox 4. Since Firefox 4 is still not completely supported by Firefox 3.5, you should upgrade to Firefox 3.6. You may download Firefox 3.6 from <http://www.mozilla.com/en-US/firefox/all-older.html>

New browsers
Microsoft Internet Explorer 9 & Mozilla Firefox 4 have been recently released. Although they both appear to have the same level of compatibility on Wetpaint as IE8 & Firefox 3, they have yet to be officially tested by Wetpaint, so use at your own risk.

Note: If you have installed Firefox 4 and are experiencing problems with certain features, read this thread for a solution.

The screenshot shows the EasyEdit toolbar at the top with options for font style (Normal), font face (Arial), size (12pt), color (black), and bold/italic/underline. Below the toolbar is a webpage titled "Dickinson Rocks! Home" featuring a photo of a football team. A callout box points to the "EasyEdit" icon in the top left of the page content. Another callout box points to the "Dickinson Athletics Homepage" link at the bottom right of the photo.

2) Highlight the name of the link in the text box and click on the image of the chain links

To create a link to another page, first click the "easy Edit" tab on the page where you wish the link to appear.

The "Add Link" dialog box contains the following elements:

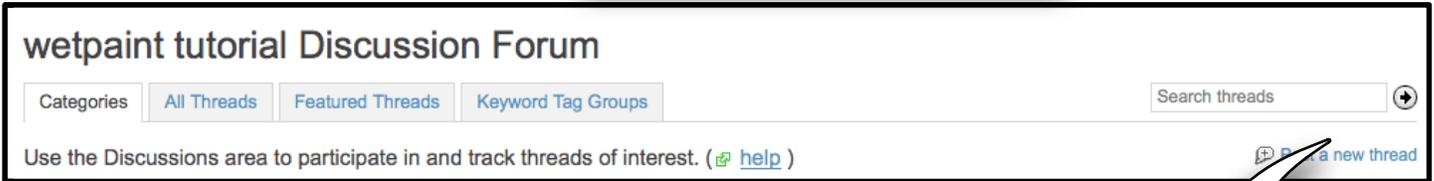

- Text: "Link to a page on this site or to another web site. (help)"
- Text: "Link to:" followed by a text input field containing "www.dickinson.edu/athletics" and a "Find Page" button.
- Text: "Enter the name of a page on this site or a complete URL for another website."
- Text: "Suggest other links on this page after adding this one." with an unchecked checkbox.
- Buttons: "Add Link" and "Cancel" at the bottom.

This box will then pop up. Simply type the url and click "Add Link"
