

OPEN SPACE
INSTITUTE

CONSERVATION DIVERSITY FELLOWSHIP

The Open Space Institute's Conservation Diversity Fellowship seeks candidates pursuing professional experience in the conservation field. The Fellowship is a full-time, salaried, one-year position in New York City offering candidates the chance to work with colleagues and leaders at the Open Space Institute to accomplish meaningful conservation goals.

OPEN SPACE INSTITUTE

The Open Space Institute protects scenic, natural and historic landscapes to provide public enjoyment, conserve habitat and working lands, and sustain communities. Founded in 1974 to protect significant landscapes in New York State, the Open Space Institute (OSI) is a leader in environmental conservation. OSI has partnered in the protection of nearly 2.2 million acres in North America, from southeastern Canada to Florida.

All of OSI's work is directed by a consistent strategy emphasizing permanent protection on a landscape scale. Each discrete transaction, whether buying a conservation easement on a family farm in the Hudson River Valley or helping fund the purchase of 100,000 acres in Maine, connects natural lands and prevents fragmentation.

CONSERVATION DIVERSITY FELLOWSHIP

The Fellowship offers college graduates a one-year, paid position (competitive starting salary of $55,000 prorated with a comprehensive benefits package) working alongside staff based in OSI's New York City home office. OSI's multifaceted programs will give the fellows wide-ranging experience in the conservation field. Fellows will have the opportunity to work on projects related to the following, based upon her/his education and desired career path:

- Conservation real estate transactions, acquisitions, and dispositions
- Access to urban parks, state parks, and the stewardship of protected lands
- Conservation science research and information dissemination
- Administration of grant funds to partner organizations for land protection and environmental education
- Finance, accounting and administration of a large non-profit organization
- Executive and development departments working with partners, funders, and the Board of Trustees

Fellows (left-right): 2019 Keren Alfred, 2017 Dyaami D’Orazio, 2018 Erik Ndayishimiye

ELIGIBILITY

- Interest in pursuing a career in a conservation and/or non-profit related field
- Demonstrated commitment to the mission of conservation or the environmental movement, including diversity in conservation
- College graduate with demonstrated academic excellence (GPA, course selection, and leadership)
- Availability and commitment to full and enthusiastic participation in all aspects of the Conservation Diversity Fellowship
- Working out of OSI’s midtown office in New York City and participating in the Fellowship for one year beginning in late summer.
- Eligible to work in the United States

APPLICATION PROCESS

The selection process, including a potential interview, will take approximately four to six weeks.

Apply online at www.openspaceinstitute.org/funds/diversity_fellowship and include the following:

- Resume or CV
- College transcript
- Two Letters of Recommendation that may be from a professor or recent employer
- Statement of Purpose (750 words or less)

FOR INFORMATION

Mike Baden • mbaden@osiny.org
Jessica Watson • jwatson@osiny.org
Open Space Institute
1350 Broadway, Suite 201
New York, NY, 10018
212 290 8200
openspaceinstitute.org