
COMMISSIONER PENDERY.—The Anti-Slavery Standard says:

A friend in Cincinnati gives us some information in regard to the Commissioner who has the fate of these fugitives in his hands, of which we give our readers the benefit, as follows:

“I have been for some months well acquainted with John L. Pendery, the Commissioner who is trying this case, and talk with him every day. He is a good-natured, easy lawyer, of moderate abilities and kind heart, and would rather see all the negroes set free than sent back to slavery. He is a Whig Know-Nothing, and opponent of the Pierce Administration, and must have obtained his office through the influence of Judge McLean, being a relative of Mrs. McLean. He is not a man of the Kane stamp by any means.”
